Dear friend, do you have a small business that you would like to see grow? If So, be sure to read:

"An Important Letter For

Small Business Owners" You will find it in Chapter 17 of a new book with so much valuable information that it is difficult to describe.

The book's title is: "GRANDPA HENRY SPILLS THE BEANS" I guarantee you never saw a book like this. In addition to sensible advice for small business owners, you will also find helpful information about salesmanship, collectibles, junk science, creativity, and much, much more, including health tips, which you may very well think are the most important part of the book. It's sort of a second education. It is loaded with all kinds of information that most people don't know. I realize that's BIG TALK, but it is really true. I would like you to see what Grandpa Henry has to say, so I've arranged a special price of only $9.87. That's a $20 discount from the regular rate -- but only on the internet and not in book stores. Try it. I think you'll be pleased. Simply click on the green button to download it into your home or office. Sincerely,

Will Scott
